

Department of Emergency Psychiatry and Post-Acute Care
University Hospital Center
Montpellier, France

Description

The Department is specialized in mood disorders and suicidal behaviour. Within it, different teams are cooperating to improve the comprehensive examination of patients and their management with a priority, the coordination and the chain of care (inpatients and outpatients).

The research activities are centered on clinical and neuroscientific aspects of suicidal behaviour (inflammation, neuropsychology, genomics, brain imaging).

Based on the personal interests of the fellow, we propose a mix of clinical and research activities. There will also be an opportunity to follow the educational activities in the department (lectures on Wednesdays, clinical and research meetings in the department).
